

Guest lecture on Radio Frequency Ablation (RFA)

ORGANIZED BY DEPT.OF GENERAL SURGERY,

ON ZOOM PLATFORM ONLINE,

9TH JULY 2021, 3-5PM.

Varicose veins are a common problem encountered in Narayana Medical College, Nellore. Multiple cases are operated upon throughout the year using the traditional Trendelenberg procedure. Considering the high case load, upgrading to better and less invasive procedures is ideal. Hence, Radio Frequency Ablation(RFA) was selected.

In order to introduce this procedure to the department of general surgery, the expertise of Dr. Elamaran, MS Gen Surgery, Mch CTVS and consultant at Thoracic and Vascular unit at Maruti GastroCare Hospital, Cuddalore was sought. Dr Elamaran, an expert in the field of RFA of Varicose Veins with 75 successful cases was brought on board by our esteemed Dean, Dr S. P.Rao and Head of the Dept of Gen Surgery, Dr V. Mahidhar Reddy.

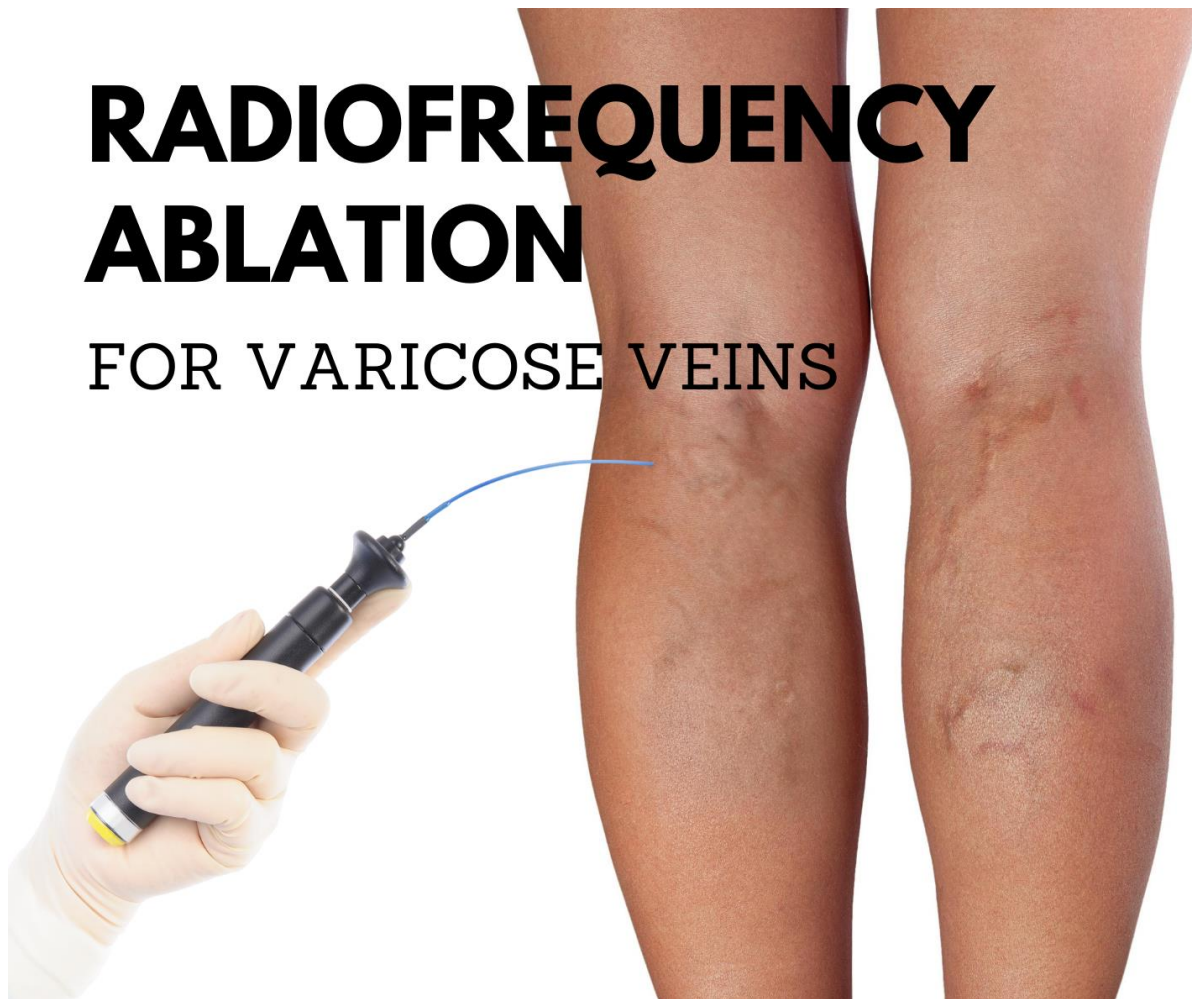

An online presentation and discussion were subsequently organised. Surgeons and post graduate residents from NMCH, Nellore and surrounding towns were in attendance nearing 150 participants.

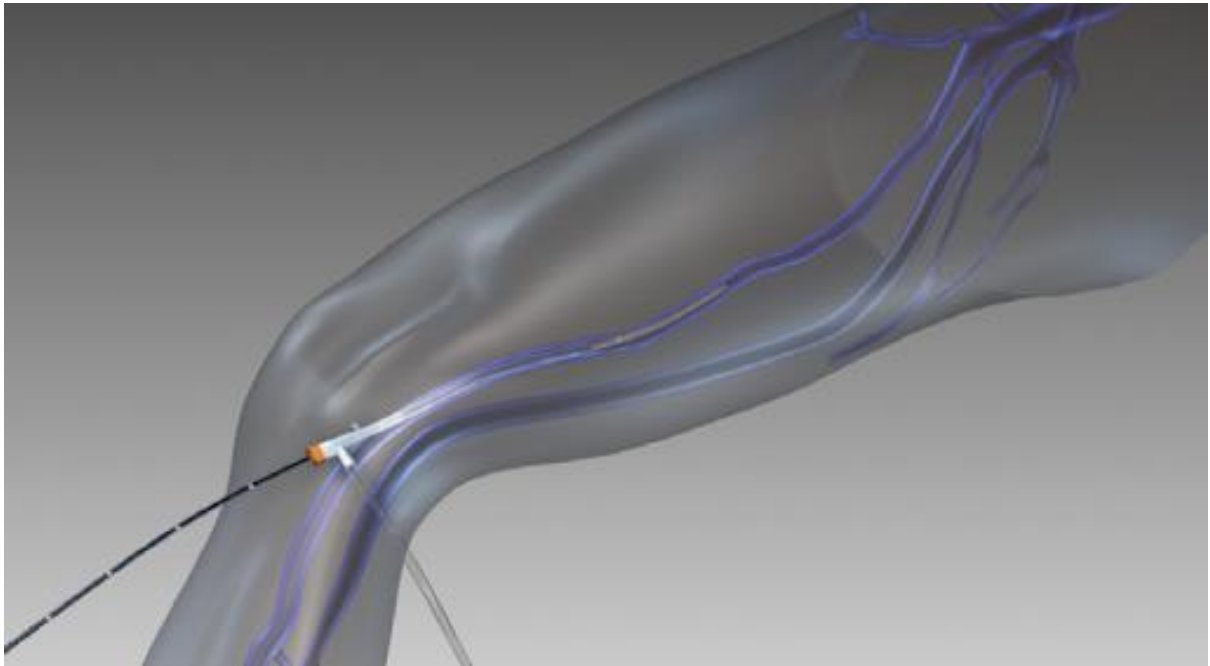

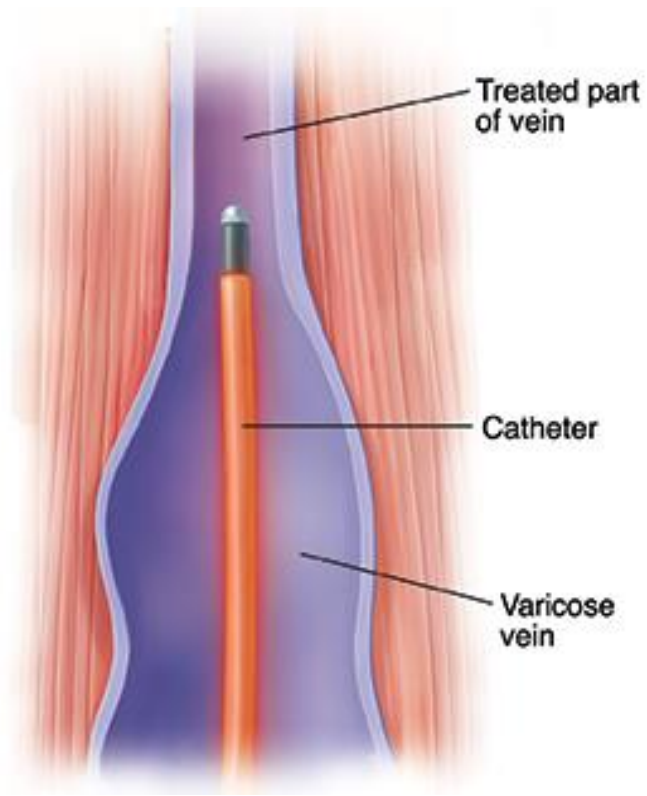

Dr Elamaran spoke eloquently about RFA, it's patient selection, procedure and post-operative management. Practical aspects of performing the procedure were also described in detail. It was followed by active participation with questions and doubts from the participants which were cleared.

This talk on RFA was extremely helpful in familiarising a new procedure. The active discussion left no room for doubts. The entire event was much needed and provided lot of insight into the future of Varicose vein surgery and opened a new avenue for general surgeons at NMCH.
