Purpose of the programme:

Department of Medical Education is organizing a series of workshops aiming to improve the research quality and strengthen the research skills of postgraduates. Research Publication is an ability which needs constant upskilling. This workshop will equip the postgraduates with skills to efficiently collect qualitative and quantitative data required for their thesis work.

About the programme:

The programme started with the introduction of the speaker by Dr.V.Mahidhar Reddy, MEU Coordinator, NMCH. Dr.Sushant Kumar Mishra, Professor & HOD of community medicine, GSL Medical College, Rajahmundry, is the speaker who conducted this workshop on Thesis Writing :Data collection Tools & Techniques. First the postgraduates were briefed about the need for data collection in thesis work. Later they were introduced to various data collection tools & techniques by the speaker. After that postgraduates were asked to work on the thesis topic each one of them have already selected and were asked to write down how they will be collecting data. Randomly few postgraduates were selected to present their data collection methods which were discussed in a detailed way. The remaining postgraduates were asked to clarify their doubts if any, which made many of them rectify their mistakes. Dean of NMCH, Dr.S.P.Rao, gave his insights on the topic and also discussed the practical way of collecting data and application of necessary tools.

The speaker Dr.Mishra was felicitated with a shawl by Dr.S.P.Rao and with a memento by Dr.Prathima, Deputy Superintendent. After a brief feedback session, the programme ended on vote of thanks by Dr.V.Mahidhar Reddy.
